

Dear Committee on Education,

My work focuses on engaging adults in local government decision making. It often surprises me how unclear many of my own community members are about their role in civic life. I strongly urge you to consider legislation that helps our children understand the role of civic participation in all its forms. There has never been a more critical time for everyone to renew their faith in collective governance.

Thanks for your consideration,
Alex Renirie