

I have been a teacher for 20 years. I support a requirement to have civics taught robustly throughout the school years. I believe it would be less likely for a person to be susceptible to conspiracy theories if they have a grounded understanding of how our government works.