Sec. 1. (1) The legislative power of the state, except for the initiative and referendum powers reserved to the people, is vested in a Legislative Assembly, consisting of a Senate and a House of Representatives.

(2)(a) The people reserve to themselves the initiative power, which is to propose laws and amendments to the Constitution and enact or reject them at an election independently of the Legislative Assembly.

(b) An initiative law may be proposed only by a petition signed by a number of qualified voters equal to six percent of the total number of votes cast for all candidates for Governor at the election at which a Governor was elected for a term of four years next preceding the filing of the petition.

(c) An initiative amendment to the Constitution may be proposed only by a petition signed by a number of qualified voters equal to eight percent of the total number of votes cast for all candidates for Governor at the election at which a Governor was elected for a term of four years next preceding the filing of the petition.

(d) An initiative petition shall include the full text of the proposed law or amendment to the Constitution. A proposed law or amendment to the Constitution shall embrace one subject only and matters properly connected therewith.

(e) An initiative petition that proposes a law or amendment to the Constitution that will require the expenditure of public moneys by the state shall include as part of the proposed law or amendment, or in connection with the proposed law or amendment, a method for providing an amount of revenue equal to the amount that will be required to meet the provisions of the proposed law or amendment if it is enacted. For purposes of paragraph (d) of this subsection, the proposed revenue source is considered a matter properly connected with the subject of the proposed law or amendment. For purposes of section 1, Article XVII of this

NOTE: Matter in boldfaced type in an amended section is new; matter [italic and bracketed] is existing law to be omitted. New sections are in boldfaced type.

1 Constitution, the proposed method for providing the required revenue is not considered a
2 separate amendment to this Constitution.

3 [(e)] (f) An initiative petition shall be filed not less than four months before the election at 4 which the proposed law or amendment to the Constitution is to be voted upon.

5 (3)(a) The people reserve to themselves the referendum power, which is to approve or reject at 6 an election any Act, or part thereof, of the Legislative Assembly that does not become effective
7 earlier than 90 days after the end of the session at which the Act is passed.

8 (b) A referendum on an Act or part thereof may be ordered by a petition signed by a number
9 of qualified voters equal to four percent of the total number of votes cast for all candidates for 10 Governor at the election at which a Governor was elected for a term of four years next preceding
11 the filing of the petition. A referendum petition shall be filed not more than 90 days after the end
12 of the session at which the Act is passed.

13 (c) A referendum on an Act may be ordered by the Legislative Assembly by law.
14 Notwithstanding section 15b, Article V of this Constitution, bills ordering a referendum and bills
15 on which a referendum is ordered are not subject to veto by the Governor.

16 (4)(a) Petitions or orders for the initiative or referendum shall be filed with the Secretary of 17 State. The Legislative Assembly shall provide by law for the manner in which the Secretary of State
18 shall determine whether a petition contains the required number of signatures of qualified voters.

20 day on which the petition may be filed as provided in paragraph [(e)] (f) of subsection (2) of this

22 (b) Initiative and referendum measures shall be submitted to the people as provided in this sec-
23 tion and by law not inconsistent therewith.

24 (c) All elections on initiative and referendum measures shall be held at the regular general
25 elections, unless otherwise ordered by the Legislative Assembly.

26 (d) Notwithstanding section 1, Article XVII of this Constitution, an initiative or referendum
27 measure becomes effective 30 days after the day on which it is enacted or approved by a majority
28 of the votes cast thereon. A referendum ordered by petition on a part of an Act does not delay the 29 remainder of the Act from becoming effective.

30 (5) The initiative and referendum powers reserved to the people by subsections (2) and (3) of this
31 section are further reserved to the qualified voters of each municipality and district as to all local,
32 special and municipal legislation of every character in or for their municipality or district. The 33 manner of exercising those powers shall be provided by general laws, but cities may provide the 34 manner of exercising those powers as to their municipal legislation. In a city, not more than 15
35 percent of the qualified voters may be required to propose legislation by the initiative, and not more
36 than 10 percent of the qualified voters may be required to order a referendum on legislation.
