

310596

Indiya Livingston "

May, 17 11

Oregon Ducks

REVIEW

Outdoor School ^

①

I had a fun time at outdoor School.
It was a great experience to learn about nature, animals and water.

I liked how we got our wood cookies, got to go on a hike, and meet very cool people. I also liked the food. I probably would say that my best field study was water, because I understood it very well. In fact I have it all memorized.

Though I wish when we were on animals field study we could've seen a real life animal. Also I wish we could've done archery.

If I were to be an outdoor School counselor, my name would be Gingerly. I would chose to teach water, because it was my favorite field study at ^{outdoor} School. Also because I believe I could do an excellent job at teaching all types of things about water to kids younger than me.
I would teach them all the things that I learned there, and then especially Turbidity which was a thing you do to determine how clean the water is.

①

Probably make it a little bit more fun than it actually was.

Like probably doing an activity involving them doing something w/ the water. Or probably I would teach soil, that was also a fun field study. For field day I would make them wear headbands.

It was really fun in my cabin. I learned how to play a few couple games. I also got to meet a few other people, I didn't even know they went to my school. It was really nice getting to know them.

I also thank ~~our~~ school for going, because if I hadn't gone I would have not known that some really cool people went to my school. I am definitely going back again! It's a great place to make friends.