

Comment on SB700

I do strongly support background checks for purchase of firearms. I doubt the value of putting even more people through a system that is broken for want of a valid database or not being enforced. After watching other states confiscate firearms, I am against any keeping of records by government agencies. I would prefer that the firearm owner keep a permanent record which is to be presented as needed for transfers.

In the case of any laws which mandate fees I am also concerned that the ever mounting costs are effectively discrimination against the less affluent.
