It is shock to me that such a bill would even be generated, let alone discussed. It has all the appearances of another way to hire one more state employee to solve a problem that does not really exist, except perhaps in the minds of a few individuals. I would think our state legislators would better serve the people of this state by working on ways to eliminate waste and fraud in state programs, and improving the efficiency and ease in complying with state regulations and administration. A second point would be that unions have too much influence on state government as it is, particularly in education and right to work laws. Enough is enough, find something better to do with your time and energy. Please my statement a part of the public record.

Respectively, Gene White
