

I am appalled that this has been passed and am speaking against such ruling. This is unconstitutional and "we the people" have every right to choose what medications we wish to have administered to our selves and our families. Taking away our 'Religious Exemption' is not your places to do so. Separation between church and state .... I am a Christ following, bible loving, God trusting individual and I know and believe with all of my heart that God created us with everything we need.

Jenny Sheets