

Senate Joint Memorial SJM-5 Testimony

Good morning Senator Shields and committee members. Thank you for allowing me to testify today.

For the record my name is Greg Pallesen. I am the Vice President of the Association of Western Pulp and Paper Workers union, known as the AWPPW. The AWPPW is an affiliate member of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America – the UBC. I am an officer of both the AWPPW and the UBC.

Oregon, along with most states in the Nation, continues to see businesses shuttered as a direct result of the failed U.S. trade and economic policies. Pulp, paper and forestry jobs have felt the impact of plant closures as heavy as most anyone in the state.

In the last 15 years every one of the Oregon pulp and paper manufacturing plants that had either mass layoffs and/or plant closures was approved for U.S. Department of Labor Trade Adjustment Assistance benefits (TAA). The same is true for every state in which the AWPPW has members.

When the Blue Heron paper mill in Oregon City closed its doors; good-paying jobs were permanently eliminated. Blue Heron had been a cornerstone of the city's economy for over a century, at one point employing over 500 people. In recent years, the mill's business model had focused on producing some of the world's greenest and finest-quality recycled paper products. To do so, it relied heavily on the recovered wastepaper collected from recycling throughout Oregon and the Pacific Northwest. Now, a major customer for numerous small businesses and what was the city's largest single source of tax revenue is gone forever.

Although the Blue Heron mill had nearly one full year of backlogged orders, like so many other mills up and down the West Coast, the mill did not survive. And like so many mills that have not survived, the mill equipment has been dismantled, and shipped overseas, only to be reassembled and brought back on line; producing the same products that were once made here in the U.S.

In just the last few months Boise has permanently closed the St. Helens pulp and paper mill for many for many of the same reasons as the Blue Heron closure. Just last week the SP paper mill in Newberg was also approved for Trade Adjustment Assistance benefits.

In 2001, Congress voted to allow China to join the World Trade Organization. Not too long after 2001 exports of wastepaper to China began to climb, overall U.S. exports of paper and other paper products plummeted. China now produces more paper products than any other country in the world. Recovered wastepaper is now America's single largest paper export, and the price of wastepaper has gone through the roof. So much so U.S. mills are having a difficult time competing for our own recovered waste paper to continue operations. The mills are also having a difficult time competing for a sustainable chip and/or pulp supply.

The Chinese industry can afford to pay more than anyone else in the U.S., mostly because their industry is heavily subsidized by the Chinese government; and in part because of China's substandard labor cost along with weak labor, safety and environmental standards.

Along with the job losses we also have a staggering trade deficit. The trade deficits are directly responsible for our other deficits - our national deficit and our state deficits. The federal government is broke, our states are broke, and our counties are broke. We no longer have the tax base required to fund maintenance of our infrastructure nor the funding for our schools or any other basic services.

Some politicians believe the solutions to our deficits are for working families to take pay cuts; to pay more for health insurance; to reduce and/or eliminate pensions; to deregulate safety, environmental and labor laws; to deregulate banking; to have unfettered trade agreements. It is our trade policies along with the lack of enforcement that is destroying our economy piece-by-piece, and our Members of Congress are directly responsible

We support international trade. We support new trade policies that would include both standards and strong enforcement equally. We believe U.S. trade policy needs a new model based on the previously introduced U.S. Senate bill S-3347. If you are interested I have included the S-3347 bill summary below.

We must change our trade policies. However in the meantime we need proper and efficient enforcement of our current trade rules before it is way too late. I ask for your support of Senate Joint Memorial SJM-5.

Thank you for the opportunity to speak today. I will certainly attempt to answer any questions you may have.

S-3347 SUMMARY AS OF:

6/27/2012--Introduced.

21st Century Trade Agreements and Market Access Act - Directs the President to report to Congress on foreign countries before the United States initiates trade agreement negotiations. Requires such report to: (1) assess whether the foreign country has a democratic form of government, adopted core labor rights, respects fundamental human rights and religious freedoms, complies with environmental laws, and enforces intellectual rights under the Agreement on Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights (TRIPS); (2) assess whether the foreign country's government or any persons in such country transfer sensitive technology or products or provide services to other countries in a manner that poses a threat to U.S. national security; and (3) certify that the foreign country has not engaged in the unfair manipulation of the rate of exchange between its currency and the U.S. dollar in the 10-year period prior to such report.

Directs the U.S. International Trade Commission (USITC), also before initiation of trade agreement negotiations, to report to the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR), the Secretary of Commerce, and Congress on market access opportunities and challenges arising from a prospective trade agreement if it will involve the modification of duties on imported products. Requires such report to: (1) assess tariff and nontariff barriers, policies, and practices of the government of the foreign country with respect to U.S. exports having the same physical characteristics and uses as the imported product for which a duty will be modified; (2) assess expected opportunities for U.S. exports to that foreign country if such tariff and nontariff barriers, policies, and practices are eliminated; and (3) estimate the foreign country's per capita and median income and population.

Directs the USTR, after a trade agreement enters into force, to report annually to Congress on each foreign country party to it on: (1) market access commitments made by the foreign country under the trade agreement; (2) any commitments undermined by discriminatory measures imposed by the foreign country; (3) those commitments likely to have the most significant potential to increase U.S. economic growth or to have a negative impact on the creation of U.S. jobs, wages, and productivity; and (4) actions taken by the foreign country to comply with market access commitments.

Expresses the sense of Congress with respect to legislation providing for expedited procedures for consideration of bills to implement trade agreements.

Requires implementing bills of new trade agreements between the United States and a foreign country to include certain standards with respect to: (1) labor, (2) environment and public safety, (3) food and product health and safety, (4) services, (5) investment, (6) government procurement, (7) intellectual property, (8) agriculture, (9) trade remedies and safeguards, (10) state-owned enterprises, (11) dispute resolution and enforcement; and (12) technical assistance.

Amends the Export Enhancement Act of 1988 to revise the duties of the Trade Promotion Coordinating Committee (TPCC).

Requires the TPCC to: (1) make a recommendation for the annual unified federal trade promotion budget; and (2) review the proposed fiscal year budget of each federal agency with responsibility for export promotion or export financing activities before it is submitted to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and the President.

Requires the governmentwide strategic plan to: (1) identify countries with which the United States could negotiate trade agreements to increase U.S. exports, (2) identify areas in which the TPCC can maximize existing partnerships with agencies by granting the TPCC the ability to partner with other agency partners without requiring an additional memorandum of understanding, (3) propose means to improve educational outreach to small- and medium-sized businesses with respect to the resources available through the TPCC and its member agencies, and (4) clearly describe the role of each TPCC member agency and its responsibility for export promotion and export financing.

Requires the TPCC to coordinate with TPCC member agencies to publish export promotion and export financing information on the Export.gov website.

Requires the Secretary of Commerce to: (1) conduct at least once every five years a global assessment of overseas markets to identify those with the greatest potential for increasing U.S. exports, and (2) redeploy U.S. and Foreign Commercial Service personnel and other resources on the basis of that assessment.

Amends the Foreign Service Act of 1980 to require each chief of mission to a foreign country to develop a plan for effective diplomacy to remove or reduce obstacles to exports of U.S. goods and services.

China to set 2013 targets for closure of old capacity; shuts of small units mandated up to 2015

SHANGHAI, Dec. 14, 2012 (PPI Asia) - The Chinese government is seeking data from the country's provincial authorities on the closure of old capacity planned for 2013.

The Ministry of Industry and Information Technology (MIIT) and the Ministry of Finance jointly issued a circular last week asking each province to submit its shutdown goals by January 28.

The results of closures made in 2012 should be reported to the two ministries at the same time.

According to the circular, 19 industries including the pulp and paper sector are the key areas targeted for shutting down old capacity next year due to heavy pollution and consumption of too much energy.

The different tiers of government will form their own plans as part of the national campaign and submit their goals to the authorities immediately above them, eventually reaching the central government level.

The central government will then give specific targets for each industry based on the information submitted by each province.

MIIT has published details of the capacity shutdowns of the 19 industries concerned for several years. A total of 9.95 million tonnes/yr of old pulp and paper capacity is supposed to be closed by the end of this year.

Getting down to details: According to the circular, each province is required to provide the capacity of every PM and pulp line for the 2013 campaign.

Previous years' lists did not give a breakdown of each unit's individual capacity, just the total that each pulp and paper company should close.

However, this time, the information should include: PM numbers, startup dates, details of auxiliary equipment, and the fiber furnish and basis weight of output; as well as the raw materials used by pulp lines.

China has been carrying out such capacity shutdown campaigns for several years in order to clean up production.

Under a government plan to direct the growth of China's pulp and paper industry through to 2015, the following must be shut down: wood pulp lines with a capacity below 51,000 tonnes/yr; nonwood pulp lines below 34,000 tonnes/yr; and recycled fiber-based pulp lines below 10,000 tonnes/yr.

On the paper and board side, the following are mandated for closure: newsprint machines with a capacity under 50,000 tonnes/yr; printing and writing PMs less than 1.76 m wide and with a speed below 120 m/min; and cartonboard and recycled containerboard units less than 2 m wide and slower than 80 m/min.

China's Shandong Tralin installs second-hand PM from USA

SINGAPORE, Jul. 14, 2008 - China's Shandong Tralin Paper has bought a second-hand machine from the US firm Blue Heron Paper.

A source at the Chinese company said that the equipment has been dismantled and shipped to its mill in Gaotang, Shandong province. Installation work has kicked off, with startup targeted for February next year.

The source indicated that the firm aims to rebuild the 6.1 m wide PM, which originally produced newsprint in the USA, enabling it to churn out uncoated printing/writing paper using a mixture of virgin fiber and nonwood pulp as furnish. It will have a capacity of 150,000 tonnes/yr.

Shandong Tralin has placed an order with Metso to supply automation for the PM. Delivery is scheduled for November.

Blue Heron permanently closed its mill in Pomona, California, in May 2007, and sold off the plant's sole machine in December. It acquired the newsprint mill from the Smurfit Group in mid-2005.
