

HM 2: From the Office of Representative David Gomberg

Counterfeits and copyright infringements don't just affect large companies. Our small kite business has been fighting this issue for years.

The second series of photos shows kites we have been licensed to produce by the original designer. Below are un-licensed copies of the same designs.
