BACKGROUND: The 13-member OEIB was created in 2011 by Senate Bill 909 to oversee all levels of state education from preschool through college. Oregon’s goal is that by the year 2025, 100 percent of Oregonians will earn a high school diploma or its equivalent, 40 percent will earn a post-secondary credential, and 40 percent will obtain a bachelor’s degree or higher. This is referred to as “40-40-20.” The OEIB’s vision statement is: “to create, advise, and support the building, implementation and investment in a unified system of public education from pre-K through post-secondary that provides all students equitable access to learning environments that eliminate opportunity gaps and support success, consistent with the vision and objectives of 40-40-20 for students.” Under Senate Bill 1581 (2012), the OEIB will enter into achievement compacts with every K-12 school district, education service district, community college, the university system and individual university, and Oregon Health Sciences University.
