6 238.465. (1) Notwithstanding ORS 238.445 or any other provision of law, payments under this 7 chapter or ORS chapter 238A of any pension, annuity, retirement allowance, disability benefit, death
8 benefit, refund benefit or other benefit that would otherwise be made to a person entitled thereto
9 under this chapter or ORS chapter 238A shall be paid, in whole or in part, by the Public Employees
10 Retirement Board to an alternate payee if and to the extent expressly provided for in the terms of 11 any judgment of annulment or dissolution of marriage or of separation, or the terms of any court 12 order or court-approved property settlement agreement incident to any judgment of annulment or 13 dissolution of marriage or of separation. [Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section] Except 14 as provided in subsection (5) of this section, the total value of benefits payable to a member and 15 to an alternate payee under this section may not be greater than the value of the benefits the 16 member would otherwise be eligible to receive. Any payment under this subsection to an alternate 17 payee bars recovery by any other person.

18 (2) A judgment, order or settlement providing for payment to an alternate payee under sub-19 section (1) of this section may also provide:

20 (a) That payments to the alternate payee may commence, at the election of the alternate payee, 21 at any time after the earlier of:

22 (A) The earliest date the member would be eligible to receive retirement benefits if the member 23 separates from service; or

24 (B) The date the member actually separates from service due to death, disability, retirement or 25 termination of employment.

26 (b) That the alternate payee may elect to receive payment in any form of pension, annuity, re-
27 tirement allowance, disability benefit, death benefit, refund benefit or other benefit, except a benefit 28 in the form of a joint and survivor annuity, that would be available to the member under this 29 chapter or ORS chapter 238A, or that would be available to the member if the member retired or 30 separated from service at the time of election by the alternate payee, without regard to the form 31 of benefit elected by the member.

32 (c) That the alternate payee's life is the measuring life for the purpose of measuring payments
33 to the alternate payee under the form of benefit selected by the alternate payee and for the purpose
34 of determining necessary employer reserves.

35 (d) Except as provided in ORS 238.305 (10) and 238.325 (7), that any person designated by the 36 member as a beneficiary under ORS 238.300, 238.305, 238.325, 238A.190 or 238A.400 be changed, even 37 though the member has retired and has begun receiving a retirement allowance or pension. If a 38 change of beneficiary is ordered under this paragraph, the board shall adjust the anticipated benefits 39 that would be payable to the member and the beneficiary to ensure that the cost to the system of 40 providing benefits to the member and the new beneficiary does not exceed the cost that the system
41 would have incurred to provide benefits to the member and the original beneficiary. The judgment, 42 order or settlement may not provide for any change to the option selected by the retired member
43 under ORS 238.300, 238.305, 238.320, 238.325, 238A.190 or 238A.400 as to the form of the retirement 44 benefit.

45 (3) The board shall adopt rules that provide for:

1 (a) The creation of a separate account in the name of the alternate payee reflecting the 2 judgment's, order's or agreement's distribution of the member's benefits under this chapter or ORS
3 chapter 238A;

4 (b) The establishing of criteria to determine whether domestic relations judgments, orders and 5 agreements comply with this section; and

6 (c) The definitions and procedures for the administration of this section.

7 (4) An alternate payee may designate a beneficiary for the purposes of death benefits payable 8 under ORS 238.390 and 238.395. Subject to ORS 238A.410 (2), an alternate payee may designate a
9 beneficiary for the purposes of death benefits payable under ORS 238A.410. If the alternate payee 10 fails to designate a beneficiary for the purposes of death benefits payable under ORS 238.390 and 11 238.395, the benefits shall be paid as provided by ORS 238.390 (2). If the alternate payee fails to 12 designate a beneficiary for the purposes of death benefits payable under ORS 238A.410, the benefits
13 shall be paid as provided by ORS 238A.410 (3). If a judgment, order or agreement awards an interest
14 to an alternate payee, and if the alternate payee predeceases the member before the alternate payee
15 has commenced receiving benefits, the alternate payee shall be considered a member of the system
16 who died before retiring for the purposes of the death benefits provided in ORS 238.390, 238.395,
17 238A.230 and 238A.410, but for purposes of the death benefits provided in ORS 238.395, the alternate 18 payee shall be considered a member of the system who died before retiring only if the member would 19 have been eligible for death benefits under ORS 238.395 had the member died at the same time as 20 the alternate payee. Payment of the death benefits to the beneficiaries, estate or other persons en-
21 titled to receive the benefits under ORS 238.390, 238.395, 238A.230 and 238A.410, shall constitute 22 payment in full of the alternate payee's interest under the judgment, order or agreement.

23 (5) Any increase in the retirement allowance provided to the member shall increase the amounts 24 paid to the [spouse or former spouse of the member] alternate payee in the same proportion, except 25 that:

26 (a) An alternate payee is not entitled to receive cost-of-living adjustments under ORS 238.360
27 or any other retirement allowance increase until benefits are first paid from the system on behalf 28 of the member[.]; and

29 (b) Cost-of-living adjustments under ORS 238.360 or 238A.210 to the retirement allowance
30 paid to an alternate payee shall be calculated on the basis of the amount of the alternate
31 payee's yearly allowance or yearly pension or benefit, as those terms are defined in ORS
32 238.360 and 238A.210.

33 (6) An alternate payee under this section is not eligible to receive the benefits provided under 34 ORS 238.410, 238.415, 238.420 and 238.440 by reason of the provisions of this section.

35 (7) An alternate payee who elects to begin receiving payments under subsection (1) of this sec-
36 tion before the member's effective date of retirement is not eligible to receive any additional pay-37 ment by reason of credit in the system acquired by the member after the alternate payee begins to 38 receive payments.

39 (8) Subsection (1) of this section applies only to payments made by the board after the date of 40 receipt by the board of written notice of the judgment, order or agreement and such additional in-41 formation and documentation as the board may prescribe.

42 (9) Whenever the board is required to make payment to an alternate payee under the provisions 43 of this section, the board shall charge and collect out of the benefits payable to the member and the 44 alternate payee actual and reasonable administrative expenses and related costs incurred by the 45 board in obtaining data and making calculations that are necessary by reason of the provisions of

1 this section. The board may not charge more than $300 for total administrative expenses and related 2 costs incurred in obtaining data or making calculations that are necessary by reason of the pro-
3 visions of this section. The board shall allocate expenses and costs charged under the provisions of 4 this subsection between the member and the alternate payee based on the fraction of the benefit
5 received by the member or alternate payee.

6 (10) Unless otherwise provided by the judgment, order or agreement, a member has no interest
7 in the benefit payable to an alternate payee under this section. Upon the death of an alternate 8 payee, the board shall make such payment to the beneficiary designated by the alternate payee as 9 may be required under the form of benefit elected by the alternate payee. If a death benefit is pay-
10 able under ORS 238.390 or 238.395 by reason of the death of an alternate payee, payment of the 11 death benefit shall be made to the beneficiary designated by the alternate payee under ORS 238.390
12 (1), or as otherwise provided by ORS 238.390 and 238.395.

13 (11) As used in this section, "court" means any court of appropriate jurisdiction of this or any 14 other state or of the District of Columbia.
