Re: HB 2268

Again, Nick Butkovich has been laughing at Oregon's DMV and industry dealers for too long. He is spinning odometer and selling vehicles without a license for years.

Oregon's current rules don't help consumers. They help illegally operating unlicensed car dealers and other people who want to fool the public, and also dealers, into buying their vehicles thinking they have fewer miles on them than they actually do.

We know DMV does not want to do this, but their system is already set up for taking these numbers in and reporting them to the proper vehicle history report vendors.

This latest legislation about odometers is about protecting the values of the lower dollar cars and trucks, not the new cars. Those people should have the same protections as the more fortunate.

Respectfully,
