

SB- 941 is more knee jerk reaction to a none issue. What good it this piece of legislation?
To placate a small segment of the population that desires a false sense of security in lieu of true freedom? Or a more insidious desire to confiscate weapons in the future? Any way to sell this it comes down to one or the other.

I know I have more important things to ponder than what new law can I craft to stop "gun violence." We the people need jobs, responsible harvesting of natural resources, education on gun safety, education on personal finance, ect. ect.

As our society rots .gov is more than willing to fill the void. The Constitution guarantees every American the right to be an idiot. Society is to step in and educate and affirm positive choices and discourage poor choices. Your roll? Maintain framework of government and protect our freedoms and liberties. And from time to time champion WITH society in rewarding positive life choices. And of course discourage poor ones...just you, no laws.

Let's not put "we the people" in a precarious situation. Lest they hand you a pink slip. Or worse yet..."Down size. " It won't work well for anybody.
