I just learned of this bill, which would disallow the listing of the grey wolf as endangered, and my first response was, "ARE THEY KIDDING?????". This, in my opinion, is the worst ... to call it a bad bill is a gross understatement; most Oregonians favor continuing protections for our beautiful, iconic wild wolves. We are justifiably proud of our excellent wolf plan, and I think most of us have been enthralled with OR7's story. Please tell me this has no chance of passing; it flies in the face of science and good management, and ignores the wishes of most Oregonians.

Thak you for your time,
