I am asking that you consider protecting the wolves of Oregon. They are just gaining a foothold and are starting to establish themselves in your great state. With all the other blood shed in other states, I am hoping that Oregon will set the example for sound humane wolf management. They need to be protected or wolves like Journey and his family will forever be in danger. I want to see a world with wolves, and I want to see states develop better stewardship for wildlife and this includes wolves.

Sincerely,
