

As a person who lives in a rural area, I would have to drive at least a hundred miles round trip in order to find a gun dealer. I cannot see how this will do anything to stop sales of weapons to people who should not own them. It will just make it harder for the law-abiding people to follow the law.

Ken Alexander

Unity, OR