

The gun control establishment is constantly making harder for the law abiding citizens to function within our constitutional rights. I wonder if these people got all their wishes for gun control and need for their protection was necessary whom would be there to defend them?

Larry McKay