

The following is the written testimony from Wendy Barnes, who is a survivor of Greg Hightower's horrific treatment as a human trafficker:

"The day he was sentenced to life was the day that I could breathe again. At that point I knew I was safe and I could live my life without constant fear."