

My name is Susan Moses. I am a mental health counselor in Portland. As a counselor, I get to help people in my job and act in the best self-interest of my client. Unfortunately our representatives are not always free to vote in their constituent's self-interests. Big-money interests want, expect, and sometimes get favors because they have the power to fund an opponent's campaign in retaliation. The time has come to repair the damage to our democracy by the Citizens United decision. To safe-guard our representatives on either side of the aisle from the threat of big-money in politics, we must stand together and make history by addressing this flaw in the system. Therefore, please vote yes on HMM 201.
