

To our legislators regarding this bill:

This bill punishes people for being landlords. It forces them to accept unfavorable tenants ad infinitum. It deprives them of their ability to sell their property, to protect their property (from abusive tenants) and to manage their property properly. The real estate industry in Central Oregon is a benefit to our economy in the billions of dollars annually. This bill if it becomes law would chill our industry, discourage investors and give undue weight to tenants' rights at the expense of the owners of the property they rent. This is bad legislation that would turn the real estate industry and financial industry on its ear. It would add to the perception that Oregon is bad for business owners. Do we want that?
