Dear Representative Post,

Please do your best to pass this bill.

It should not be illegal for a person to relieve some of their symptoms of perennial allergies by purchasing pseudoephedrine.

My limited Social Security income does not allow for visits to a physician or the ever increasing costly prescriptions. I go to the doctor only when it is an absolute health emergency for me, because the high cost of medical care and prescriptions are prohibitive. My chronic rhinitis symptoms are not only distressing, I can barely breathe at times because of the phlegm accumulation in my throat. I would very much like to be able to breathe with more ease and live a more active lifestyle.

Sincerely,

Sharon Conn
