

Thank you for taking the time to read my comments. As a Landlord of several units, I have been expressing my concerns with all the new bills up before the house in relation to the Housing shortage crisis that plagues our state. If passed, these new restrictions on Landlords will only become a line item to be passed along and will do nothing to help a tenant find a home. Bottom line- we need more housing, we get that, laws of supply and demand take care of themselves. If a Landlord loses the ability to deduct the mortgage on his or her rental property, well- even a third grader could figure that one out. Respectfully Dennis Patterson