

Hello Channa,

I'm an Oregon farmer, and I agree that the purveyors of GMO contaminants, those who profit from them by making them and selling us the seeds and pesticides, should be the ones responsible for cleaning-up the mess they have created in our environment, and in our bodies.

It is not my neighbor-farmer's fault...it is the responsibility of the profiteers to stop poisoning us, and to make restitution for their destruction of our productive environment.

Thank you for the opportunity to share my feelings with you.

Sincerely,

Hank Keeton
