

I do not have a farm, but as a doctor, I'm in the health business. As more info has come out about GMO foods, I'm convinced that growing GMO crops is a direct assault on nature and impinges on the rights of nearby farmers to grow non-GMO (i.e. natural) crops. I want the farmers who grow my food to be protected from GMO contamination.

We have a law that protects us from breathing toxic cigarette smoke in public places. The same should go for GMO pollution. There is ample evidence that GMO foods and their associated chemicals are dangerous. Thank you!

Blessings,
Dane
