BACKGROUND:

Brewery-public house licenses were first created in 1985. These licenses allow for manufacture and sale of malt beverages, wine, or cider. There were 104 brewery and brewery-public house licenses in 2005. As of 2016, there are 314, showing a 12% year-over-year growth rate.

House Bill 2160 would allow brewery-public house licensees to hold an off-premises sales license.
