

Dear Senate Committee for Environment and Natural Resources,

I am writing because I am concerned about the future of pollinators in our beautiful state of Oregon. The major bee die-offs of the past few years are very concerning. I think we need to take more action to protect these important species, as they place a critical role in our ecosystems and agriculture.

Without the passage of SB 929, anyone can buy highly toxic chemicals that cause major bee die-offs and use them indiscriminately on private property.

Please, help protect Oregon's landscape by adding much-needed protections for our keystone pollinator species. Protecting Oregon's pollinators from highly toxic pesticides protects Oregonians from a bare and desolate landscape in years to come.

Sincerely,

Sara Worl
