Matt Doumit,

The amount of corruption and fraud perpetrated by the pharmaceutical companies is there for anyone to see if you are willing to look for it. The fact that the pharmaceutical companies use their advertising dollars to kill negative stories in the corporate press should not prevent responsible people from looking beyond the pop headlines into the actual data of what is happening. Because of the amount of death, pain and suffering being caused by vaccines, we must give the People every opportunity to decide for themselves what they want done with their own bodies and with their own children.
