BACKGROUND:

In Oregon, a judgment creditor may ask the court for an order requiring the judgment creditor to appear and answer under oath questions concerning any property or interest in property that the judgment debtor may have. A judgment creditor may also serve the judgment debtor with written interrogatories relating to the judgment debtor's property and financial affairs. A court may impose remedial or punitive sanctions for conduct violating a court order, including when a judgment debtor fails to appear in court for an examination or to answer interrogatories. House Bill 2896 prohibits a court from imposing a sanction of confinement or issuing a warrant for contempt when a judgment debtor fails to comply with an examination or written interrogatories. HB 2896 also prohibits a court from issuing a warrant to compel the judgment debtor's attendance when he or she has failed to appear on a contempt complaint that was issued because of the failure to comply with an examination or written interrogatories.
