Modifies expiration date for service permit, eliminates requirement for endorsement of service permit application, increases maximum fee Commission may assess for service permit, and eliminates the requirement that a permit holder must obtain a duplicate of a lost, mutilated or destroyed service permit or obtain a new permit following a name change. Exempts moneys from retail sale of distilled liquor held by appointed agent from laws regarding keeping of public moneys in financial institution if the agent has deposited a specified amount with the Commission. BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Liquor Control Commission (OLCC) is the licensing agency for businesses that import, manufacture, distribute, sell or serve alcohol in Oregon. The OLCC was instituted in 1933 following the end of national prohibition. Oregon is a control state, with the exclusive right to sell packaged distilled spirits through a statewide distribution center in Portland and sold through retail liquor stores operated by contracted liquor agents. Licenses are issued to private businesses for the sale of packaged beer and wine, and to restaurants, bars and taverns for the sale of beer, wine and distilled spirits by the glass. The Commission issues a variety of licenses, based on the type of business operated by the licensee.
