BACKGROUND:

Oregon law establishes the Oregon Deaf and Hard-of-Hearing Program in the Department of Human Services (DHS). The program is funded through DHS' General Fund appropriation. The Residential Service Protection Fund, established in 1987, is a separate fund in the state treasury that collects money from surcharges placed on telecommunication subscribers by the Public Utility Commission (PUC). The Residential Service Protection Fund includes an Account for Low Income Customers and an Account for the Deaf.

Senate Bill 1023-A creates a separate Deaf, Deaf-Blind, and Hard of Hearing Fund for DHS to use in administering programs for deaf, deaf-blind, or hard-of-hearing people. The measure also directs the PUC to annually transfer up to $200,000 from the Residential Service Protection Fund to the Deaf, Deaf-Blind, and Hard of Hearing Fund. The measure also requires DHS and PUC to enter an agreement regarding the the amount of money transferred, the way the money will be spent, and a plan for the biennial reduction in transferred moneys.
