

Rent control has repeatedly been shown by economists to have an adverse impact on the population it is trying to serve. In a poll of 464 economists in the May issue of American Economic Review, 93% of respondents determined rent controls are destructive. Please use objective reasoning to guide policy decisions and not emotional reactivity in an attempt to demonstrate progress to constituency. I stand opposed to rent control, along with the vast majority of people who study the topic.