

Rent control is never the answer. We need to be creative as a community to help those in need. Rent control is just passing the buck to the back of a few and hoping they won't buckle under the weight. We can do better than kicking the can down the road and hoping someone else will handle our problem!
Sent from my iPhone