Subject: HB 3279 – Relating to regulation of property services contractors
Work Session Recommendations

This bill expands the definition of labor contractor to include property services contractors. Property services contractors provide janitorial services labor to others. The Bureau of Labor and Industries (BOLI) will license and collect data from these contractors, as well as provide or approve specified training.

Current law allows BOLI to assess fees on labor contractors to cover the costs associated with licensing and compliance. This statutory fee authorization covers property services contractors, as defined by this bill. Fees assessed on property services contractors should cover the cost of hiring an additional 1.5 FTE at BOLI for licensing and compliance activities.

The bill also requires BOLI to provide or approve certain training for managers and employees of property services contractors. BOLI may need to return to the Legislature for additional expenditure limitation after reviewing available trainings and determining the fee structure.

This bill passed out of the House Committee on Judiciary unanimously. The fiscal impact statement and staff measure summary are available on the Oregon Legislative Information System (OLIS). The -A6 amendment is necessary to add Other Funds expenditure limitation for BOLI of $156,267 for a full-time Administrative Specialist 1 and a half-time Compliance Specialist 2.
