

Rules Committee,

The Electoral College system may have necessary back when the country was new, but things have changed. There is currently no obstacle to obtaining a count from every state within hours of the close of the polls. Let us please have an up-to-date system, let us count the actual votes, and let us have an immediate announcement of the outcome. A day or so at the most should be enough to handle any minor problems that may arise.

Let us have a National Popular Vote!

Thank you.
