

Rules Committee,

After watching several elections reversed by the electoral college, American voters are discouraged. One person, one vote has lost its meaning and those that do vote are in the minority. Is there any wonder when elections are bought and paid for by Corporations that dump endless volumes of money into candidates that represent those very same corporations or wealthy donors. Corruption is throughout our system of governance and is mirrored through the Electoral College. American voters deserve better. Please retire the electoral college and thus encourage America's voting population.
