

Rules Committee,

Hello.

It's time for Oregon to join the movement to have every vote cast in a presidential election matter. The electoral college has simply failed to deliver the actual winner of the popular vote in two recent elections -- 2000 and 2016. This country cannot endure another "victory" by someone who garners fewer votes and thus has no legitimate mandate for governance. Democrats came out on the wrong side of these two "decisions," but it could be Republicans who are similarly victimized in the future. I simply want the person who gets the most votes to be declared the winner.
