

Rules Committee,

It is high time to equalize the votes of individual citizens. The Electoral College is an artifact from an era long past when Southern States insisted on concessions from the slave-free, more populous North. It was an era without the Internet and modern social media that today ensure broad communication. By ignoring the results of the popular vote for the Office of president of the USA, we disenfranchise millions of voters. That in itself is unconstitutional. Oregon voters have long expressed overwhelming support of National Popular Vote Legislation. Thus nothing stands in the way of passing HB2927 now without any amendments or submitting it to a referendum.

Sincerely,

John A. McCarthy
