

Rules Committee,

To whom it may concern;

My 11 year old nephew asked my 23 year old son why people voting isn't enough. That nobody should be able to vote on behalf of an American in their State. He stated he thought at the end of the day all votes are counted. The person with more votes win.

That's an 11 year old that calls it like it is. That when people vote , at the end of the day, the votes are counted. The one who has more votes should win.

I had to then explain how the Electoral Votes are used and counted. He then he stated how that's cheating. That nobody should be voted in to cast electoral votes on behalf of people, it's unfair.

We the people don't know a person's political beliefs, including Senators, or any part of Congress. What these electoral voters are doing is taking away the votes by US Citizens. ENOUGH, is Enough PLEASE.

Best regards
