

Rules Committee,

Our elected officials in national elections should reflect the majority of Americans. The Electoral College is completely out of date and useless for ensuring that those who carry the popular vote are elected to office. The electoral college was formed at a time will be for any of the modern communication devices. And it has outlasted it's useful this. With modern day equipment and technology we should definitely change how we elect our officials. I support changing our system to elect people to national office by popular vote.

Rogene Manas
rogenem@phototidings.com
2182 Agate st
Eugene, Oregon 97403 Oregon