

Rules Committee,

It is time for the national popular vote to be what chooses our President. We have mass communication, not riders on horseback. Each state should matter, not just New Hampshire and the other primary leaders. Almost 66 million voters did not want the President they got, that was 3 million more votes than the losing ( winning) candidate got. That is banana republic stuff, we deserve better. Let he who actually wins, be the victor, not he who had some really swell gerrymandering and state counts. Entire regions should not be disenfranchised. Its past time to honor the will of the people.
