She was educated in Portland Public Schools and was a scholarship honor student in art at the University of Oregon. She married Victor Atiyeh in 1944 and the couple had two children, Tom and Suzanne.

Mrs. Atiyeh partnered with her husband, Vic, during his 20 years of service in the legislature, and served honorably as Oregon's First Lady from January 1979 to January 1987, while her husband served as Governor. She was a champion of various art, charitable and historic causes, particularly those supporting children and young adults. Additionally, Mrs. Atiyeh was an avid volunteer who worked with several organizations including the Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, Parent Teacher Association, Japanese Garden Society, Arts Coalition Northwest, Portland Art Museum and the Historic Preservation League of Oregon. As an advocate, she successfully campaigned legislation establishing mandatory immunization of children and seatbelts for children under the age of five.
