It is appalling to find out that Oregon lags behind Washington and California and often their dirty diesel engines are being dumped here to poison us and our children and communities. Oregon can and should do better. Diesel causes more fatalities than traffic crashes. Unfortunately, it is at highest concentrations in neighborhoods with more low-income and people-of-color residents.

I did not grow up with asthma, but was diagnosed after living in Oregon after about 10 years. I cannot help but think that if Oregon had stricter regulations on emissions that this would not have happened.

This bill would help turn some of these things around and needs your support.
