

I oppose this overly broad bill which is designed to ultimately give the state the power to seize personal firearms from whatever person or group that they deem a threat without due process. If you look at North Korea, China, Russia and wherever the government controls the power of the people, the first order of business is to remove all firearms from the people so no opposition is possible. It starts with sweet little 'safety' laws like this.

Stan Satter