

This is senseless attack on my rights. Previously, I was married to a woman who disliked me. Her daughter disliked me more. Never laid a hand on anyone. But both tried to get a restraining order against me for the sole purpose of losing my gun rights. So how do you address a vindictive step daughter? And having gone through a divorce, the courts run painfully slow for someone to try and restore their rights. This is an unfair law, sold as window dressing, but with the real purpose of disarmament.
