

HB 4145 is another law aimed at denying lawful gun owners of their right to keep and bear arms. Kareem Abdul Jabar claimed to have had sex with over a thousand women, Under this law, any one of those women could have had his right to own a firearm denied even though the other 999+ had no problem with him. While his case is extreme, there are many people who are in similar situations who might have had a relationship with a mentally deranged person who would seek to "get even" with them if they broke off the relationship. Ex spouses are notorious at trying to get even with each other and this law would allow them to do so even though there would be no reason for this action to be taken. It is a bad law and whoever came up with it should be run out of office for representing wealthy people from another state instead of representing Oregonians.
