

Dear Legislators,

So I'm 75, my Chev diesel PU is 35, my diesel tractor is 32. They are the muscle that make the difference as to if I farm or not. And the crop is sheep, so the truck and tractor are used minimally. And the sheep eat grass which makes clean air, as do the 25 acres of trees (neither of which I get credit for). So you do your proposed bill, which puts me out of business, and the place sells to some 'city folks' that want to live in the country and have horses. And the horses overgraze the pastures because they're over stocked and under fed. And because they didn't do the math right the new owners sell off the timber for the cash to pay the bills. So now there's no grass making oxygen, no trees making oxygen, the land is a mud hole and the creek and river are running with the manure from the horses. So how did your bill work out? ? ?

It won't ruin my future, 'cause I'll be gone before it's obvious you messed up. Oh, and you'll be out of office so no one will pin it on you either. But what about the kids now, who will inherit your foolish mistake? Can you live with that? And remember, even if you can. . .

'Someone' above all this is keeping score, for which you WILL get credit. . . or demerit! Do how about doing the right thing.

Respectfully.
