

If it makes sense, works, or requires prior planning, the government is not going to do it.

If it is making sense or works, the government is going to FIX it until it doesn't. This Statue proves the point.

I did not come to the session where you created this work of fiction made into law because it was like Monty Python's Circus. It was absurd, arbitrary, and abiguous. Very humorous. I pictured myself as a victim of your draconian law and laughed. Surely the Legislature would not make this joke into law.

Frankly, it has been a national embarrassment to those who own firearms for self defense. This is not about reducing domestic violence even tangentially.

So I thought how I could charge you for your incompetence and ignorance. The Oregon Constitution states, "Private property shall not be taken for public use, nor the particular services of any man be demanded, without just compensation;" Therefore, I would take you to small claims court for the costs of protection services and/or the public use/confiscation of my property. Also, I would charge the cost of a gunsmith to take apart and check my firearms for inspection of function on return.

The State might sue the person making false claims, but I would bring the State into small claims. The accuser might have committed a crime, but you are the one who committed the civil act of injury. It would be worth the cost of small claims fees, regardless of how the court might rule.

Now, you want to get into my bedroom with all my previous sexual partners. The average is 7.2. In Louisiana, it is 15.4

partners. Not being a robber, rapist, or murderer, I was tempted to think of myself as a victim of your law.

As a retired professional, however, I was paid to see how an imaginative narcissistic antisocial could turn a situation to their advantage. So, I could stalk someone to catch them in a public place and yell, "DON'T TOUCH ME THERE!" If I do it twice and they have ever been a sexual partner, you would disarm them for me. Then I can use a weapon to rob, rape, or murder them. My blunt instruments and edged weapons do not require a silencer or background check. They have no firearm to stop me.

Gun ownership does not provoke violence anymore than car ownership provokes drunk driving. If you took away all vehicles with four wheels, they'd drive drunk on motorcycles. If you take away firearms, robbers, rapists, and murderers will use lethal force that is silent without the need for a records check. Hammers, axes, and screwdrivers do not require taxing for being silent or a records check. . Too bad these victims were not trained and, perhaps, armed by their government to protect themselves. Police were too late; once again.
