BACKGROUND:

The Oregon National Guard (ONG) consists of the Oregon Army National Guard and Oregon Air National Guard, and is charged with supporting the governor during unrest or natural disaster. It is also a reserve force to the United States Air Force and United States Army.

Currently, members of the ONG receive certain educational benefits and scholarships through the federal government. The most common federal benefit programs include the Post-9/11 and Montgomery GI bills, though ONG members do not always qualify for benefits based on requirements such as deployment duration, or receive benefits that do not cover all education expenses.

Oregon does not currently offer state tuition assistance or other educational benefits to ONG members. Statutory language for a tuition waiver program exists under ORS 399.275; the program is managed by the Oregon Military Department who may contract with the Higher Education Coordinating Commission to disburse tuition waiver moneys. However, the program has not been funded in recent years.
