

Keep your damn hands off my gun rights! If someone gets drunk and kills someone with their vehicle the person is blamed not the vehicle. Why in the hell do we want to blame a gun because someone on mind altering drugs picked one up and killed people with it? Blame the person, blame the drug companies that have produced these drugs. Hell how about the parents or even the FBI and police officers that have had dozens of dealings with the individual and yet they do nothing to stop this shit from happening. All you people want is more gun restrictions on law abiding citizens.

I am sick and tired of your shitty politics people, it is way past time for a damn change. Time for a flush!
