We are farmers who live in Amity and this is just another burdensome regulation that make do-gooders feel better, but doesn't contribute one iota to actual emissions! Do we want to farm in America and grow our own food or not? I look around and farmers are taking out their actual food-producing specialty crops like strawberries, blueberries, zucchini, broccoli and replacing them with anything that can make money and avoid burdensome regulation and red-tape. Every year, it feels like something else is coming down the pike that threatens to make our lives more difficult. Farming IS already difficult enough – just with the work of farming and it is hard to describe the office hours, the money we pour seemingly down the drain to comply with these untold regulations. PLEASE stop. This cap and trade legislation has HURT California. We want to be free in Oregon. Please vote for freedom and not more regulation!

Thank you so much,
